

Bayes Ahmed
IRDR - Institute for Risk & Disaster Reduction
UCL University College London
United Kingdom

Letter of Invitation

I am pleased to extend an invitation to Bayes Ahmed to attend the CNDS & UCL-IRDR networking workshop 26-27 October 2016. The Centre for Natural Disaster Science (CNDS) is a joint initiative between Uppsala University, Karlstad University, and the National Defence University. The workshop is a small conference between CNDS and UCL-IRDR, two research institutes in the field of disaster risk reduction. The purpose of the workshop is to discuss participants' ongoing research and to create potential collaborative research projects between both research centres.

Participants are invited to stay in Uppsala, Sweden, between 25-31 October 2016, to give them the possibility to participate in the CNDS Forum on Natural Disasters, and the CNDS & UCL-IRDR workshop.

CNDS grants travel scholarships to each invited PhD students that will cover their flight costs, and accommodation for three nights. The conference furthermore includes several complimentary meals for each participants.

Should you have additional questions, please contact the organiser of the workshop, Frederike Albrecht, frederike.albrecht@statsvet.uu.se or +46 18 471 1993.

Best regards

Frederike Albrecht
Organiser of the CNDS & UCL-IRDR workshop
PhD Candidate and Research Assistant
Department of Government, Uppsala University
Centre for Natural Disaster Science (CNDS)