We are tremendously excited to launch the second annual International School on Climate Migration

co-hosted by the Centre for Human Rights Law, the Law, Environment and Development Centre and the Centre for Migration and Diaspora Studies at SOAS University of London in summer 2023.

Location:

Online (zoom)

Date:

June 5 – July 12, 2023

Applicants are strongly encouraged to familiarize themselves with the course structure and key dates, eligibility requirements, attendance, participation and engagement expectations prior to applying.

Brief Overview

This year, the ISCM will bring together more than thirty leading experts to deliver lectures and convene rigorous seminars over the course of six weeks, as well as six frontline experts to share their first-hand experience of the impacts of climate change.

Placing questions of differential vulnerability and environmental justice at the center, the ISCM unpack topical themes throughout weekly lecture and seminar sessions each week. We will be accepting a maximum of 50 participants at the ISCM in 2023.

Attendance, Participation and Engagement Expectations

We expect our participants to attend both the lecture and seminar sessions every Monday and Wednesday respectively for the duration of the six-week program. We understand that busy schedules may, on occasion, conflict with the sessions but want to emphasize the importance of regular attendance for the cultivation of an enriching space for all.

ISCM participants will be expected to come prepared to seminar sessions each week by completing reading assignments and engaging through our online discussion forum.

ISCM participants will be expected to undertake a capstone project, developing skills and practical experience by working in small groups while at the ISCM. More information about the capstone project will be made available to participants upon enrollment. However, applicants can expect to spend a reasonable amount of time meeting with peers and working on capstone assignments outside of the weekly sessions. Don't worry – the capstone project is intended to be more exciting than stressful!

Program Fees & Financial Assistance

While we wish that we could offer the ISCM free of charge, a lot of hard work goes into making the ISCM possible, and we believe it is important to support the team who makes it all happen!

The ISCM will be offered at an accessible rate to all participants. Selected applicants will be expected to confirm their enrollment and pay the respective fee shortly after receiving an enrollment offer.

The program fees have been set at the following categorical rates:

Student rate: $250.00 USD – applies to postgraduate students, recent graduates of a postgraduate degree, and undergraduate students or recent graduates in exceptional circumstances

Academic rate: $300.00 USD – applies to those pursuing or who have obtained a PhD

Practitioner rate: $500.00 USD – applies to working professionals

More information on how to pay the fees here.

Financial Assistance

With the help of our partners, we are proud to offer a few spots at the 2023 ISCM free of charge or at a reduced rate to exceptional applicants who many not otherwise be able to attend the ISCM. Applicants will have the opportunity to indicate their interest in obtaining a sponsored, fee-waive or reduced rate spot to attend the ISCM through the online application form.
